Making Teaching a Career of Choice Government Strategies to Attract Best Talent

INTERVIEW

In the pursuit of educational excellence, one of the paramount goals of a government is to elevate teaching into a revered and sought-after profession. Recognising the vital role educators play in shaping the future, the Government of India (GOI) has embarked on a transformative journey to make teaching a career of choice. This initiative is rooted in the belief that attracting the best talent to the teaching profession is essential for fostering a vibrant and effective education system. The GOI's strategies encompass a multifaceted approach, combining policy reforms, financial incentives and professional development opportunities designed to enhance the status and appeal of teaching. By integrating these efforts with a vision of educational innovation and excellence, the government aims to cultivate a cadre of highly skilled and motivated educators, thereby ensuring that the nation's classrooms are led by individuals who are both passionate and profoundly qualified. Speaking to Shri Chandan Kumar Chaudhary for Employment News, Ms.

Employment News Wishes all Readers a Happy Teachers' Day on September 5

Prachi Pandey, Joint Secretary (Institutions & Training), Ministry of Education, Government of India, sheds light on the key strategies implemented by the GOI to elevate teaching as a career of choice and their potential impact on the future of education in India.

Q: Teachers play a crucial role in shaping the future of children and contributing to the strength of a nation through education. In your view, what are the expectations from teachers under the New Education Policy?

A: Teachers are pivotal in shaping the future of India. The National Education Policy (2020) emphasises that empowering teachers is essential for the country's progress. Teachers are expected to be deeply rooted in Indian values, languages, knowledge systems and traditions, while also staying updated with the latest advancements in education and pedagogy. Well-trained teachers are better equipped with practical concepts, skills and strategies for effective teaching and assessment. The quality of education is largely determined by the presence of exceptional and passionate teachers who foster excellence and innovation. Therefore, it is crucial to create an environment that supports teacher appointments, professional development, career progression, retention, autonomy, a culture of excellence and appropriate incentives for outstanding and innovative teaching, research, institutional service and community outreach, to meet our educational goals.

Fintech: Careers at the Intersection of Money and Machines

Ranjana Kumari

The word "fintech" is a fusion of the terms "financial" and "technology," representing the intersection of cutting-edge technological solutions to support and enhance traditional financial services while introducing new, faster and more efficient services for the modern world. The fintech sector is evolving rapidly due to continuous digital advancements. It is now offering exciting career opportunities for those passionate about innovation and finance.

Why Consider a Career in Fintech?

Fintech is one of the fastest-growing sectors within finance, with a projected Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 26.2% from 2022 to 2030. This growth creates a wealth of opportunities for individuals with the right skills, making fintech an attractive career path for those eager to be at the forefront of technological innovation. The dynamic nature of the industry, characterised by new ventures and startups competing against established brands, offers professionals the chance to drive impactful products and services that shape the future.

Moreover, fintech's competitive landscape provides ample room for career progression, with frequent opportunities for upward and lateral moves.

Financial rewards in the sector can be significant, with firms eager to invest in top-class talent to fuel their success. The variety of niche sectors within fintech also allows professionals to develop a diverse portfolio of experience, beneficial for long-term career planning.

What Does a Career in Fintech Entail?

Fintech is a diverse sector offering a wide range of roles across various domains, including:

- Digital Banking
- Mobile Payment Gateways
- Point-of-Sale (POS) System Development
- Cryptocurrencies
- Personal Finance
- Business to Business (B2B) and Business to Customer (B2C) Transactions
- Investing

Professionals in fintech are typically involved in the digital technology domain, leveraging their finance backgrounds to support innovative solutions. While many roles in fintech

Battery Breakthroughs: India's Advancements in Lithium-ion Battery Technology

In today's world, driven by innovation and sustainability, energy storage solutions are at the forefront of technological advancements. Lithium-ion batteries, with their high energy density and long lifespan, have emerged as the power source of choice for everything from portable electronics to electric vehicles. Recognising this potential, India is making significant strides in lithium-ion battery technology and a key player in this endeavour is the CSIR-ICeNGESS project.

Lithium-ion Batteries in (a) Cylindrical, (b) Pouch Cells formats and (c) Sodium-ion Battery.

ICeNGESS: A Catalyst for Indigenous Battery Production

Launched by the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR), ICeNGESS stands for "CSIR Innovation Centre for Next Generation Energy Storage Solutions." This flagship project is spearheaded by the CSIR-Central Electrochemical Research Institute (CSIR-CECRI) and is a testament to India's commitment to "Make in India" and "Aatmanirbhar Bharat" (Self-reliant India) initiatives. The recently inaugurated 18650-type cylindrical Li-ion battery fabrication facility at CSIR-CECRI's Chennai centre marks a significant milestone in this journey.

A World-Class Facility for Innovation

This first-of-its-kind facility boasts a production capacity of 1000 cells per day, serving as a crucial bridge between pilot-scale research and the upcoming facility planned for Phase II of the ICeNGESS project. The emphasis here is not just on large-scale production, but also on fostering innovation. The facility will function as a demonstration platform, showcasing the potential of lithium-ion battery technology and paving the way for future advancements.

Empowering Indian Industries: A Multi-pronged Approach

The ICeNGESS project goes beyond simply building a battery production facility. It aims to create a robust ecosystem for indigenous lithium-ion battery technology in India. Here's how:

- Nurturing MSMEs: ICeNGESS provides crucial support to Indian industries and Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) by encouraging them to adopt indigenous fabrication techniques for lithium-ion cells.
- Technical Incubation: The project envisions creating avenues for technical incubation, providing budding entrepreneurs with the resources and guidance needed to establish lithium-ion battery startups.
- Knowledge Transfer: CSIR-CECRI plays a pivotal role in knowledge transfer, offering training and handholding support to ensure sustainable research and development (R&D) efforts in the field of energy storage solutions.
- Building a Domestic Supply Chain: ICeNGESS actively promotes the development of an indigenous supply chain for lithium-ion battery components, fostering collaboration between research institutions and private sector industries.

Beyond Lithium-ion: Exploring the Future of Energy Storage

The ICeNGESS project adopts a future-oriented approach. While focusing on lithium-ion technology, it also explores possibilities for next-generation energy storage solutions. Research is ongoing in areas like sodium-ion batteries and supercapacitors, with a vision to develop even more efficient and sustainable options. Additionally, the project recognises the importance of a circular economy for batteries. By promoting recycling and refurbishing practices, ICeNGESS aims to ensure a sustainable future for energy storage.

Synergy for Success: Partnerships Powering Progress

The success of ICeNGESS hinges on collaborative efforts. The recent transfer of CSIR-CECRI's lithium-ion battery technology know-how to Tata Chemicals Ltd. (TCL) is a prime example of this synergy. This partnership allows TCL to leverage CSIR-CECRI's expertise and infrastructure to scale up cathode material production, a critical component of lithium-ion batteries. Furthermore, the MoU signed between CSIR-CECRI and TCL paves the way for joint exploration of new cathode chemistries, fostering innovation and accelerating India's progress in the field.

Looking Ahead: A Brighter Electric Future

The ICeNGESS project and its associated collaborations hold immense promise for India's future. By promoting indigenous battery production, ICeNGESS will contribute to:

INTERVIEW

Dr. K. Ramesha, Director, CSIR-CECRI
Karaikudi, Tamil Nadu

Q. What steps are being planned to scale up the 18650-type lithium-ion battery production facility from 1,000 cells per day to accommodate larger industrial demands?

A. CSIR-CECRI (Central Electrochemical Research Institute) and M/s. Godi Energy Pvt. Ltd. have entered into a public-private partnership through a MoA, to operate and maintain the Lithium-ion cells manufacturing facility created under ICeNGESS project (Phase-I) in Chennai. Godi Energy will produce 1000 cells on a daily basis. Further CSIR has a plan of establishing another facility (Phase-II) under ICeNGESS that aims to establish the infrastructure to produce cells of different chemistries (LFP & NMCs), technologies (Sodium-ion and Solid-State Batteries) and various form factors, including cylindrical 21700/32140 type (3-15 Ah), pouch (10-20 Ah) and prismatic (20-100 Ah) types.

Q. What advancements are being pursued in next-generation energy storage solutions, such as sodium-ion batteries and supercapacitors, within the ICeNGESS project?

A. The prime focus of ICeNGESS Phase-II is demonstration of next generation batteries mainly Sodium-ion and Solid-state batteries. The development of next generation technologies not only contributes to the advancement of battery technology but also ensures that we remain on par with global developments, preventing any lag behind. This strategic approach maintains competitiveness in the rapidly evolving battery market, positioning us at the forefront of innovation and technological progress.

Q. Can you share any upcoming project or initiative by CSIR-CECRI aimed at further advancing energy storage technologies and promoting sustainable practices?

A. An interesting upcoming initiative by CSIR is the mission mode project on "Battery to Battery: Recovery of Metal Values from Spent Lithium-ion Batteries and Fabrication of New Lithium-ion Batteries - A Circular Economy Approach" aiming at the recovery of metal values from spent Lithium-ion batteries and reuse them in the fabrication of new Lithium-ion Batteries (LIBs) as part of a circular economy approach. In this project, three CSIR labs, CSIR-NML, CSIR-IMMT and CSIR-CECRI have joined hands to develop efficient, sustainable and scalable processes for recovery of metal values from used Li-ion batteries and reuse the metal salts in fabricating battery materials or components. India has a very limited known reserves of lithium, as well as other important constituents such as cobalt, nickel, etc. So CSIR is looking into these aspects as battery recycling technology development that provides India with a great opportunity to overcome challenges such as limited critical metal resources and also to prevent environmental hazards associated with improper disposal of batteries.

- Reduced Carbon Footprint: Widespread adoption of electric vehicles powered by locally produced batteries will significantly reduce dependence on fossil fuels and curb vehicular emissions.

- Megawatt Capacity Factories: ICeNGESS by nurturing industries and start-ups paves the way for establishing large-scale battery production facilities in India, meeting the growing demand for energy storage solutions.

- Economic Growth: The project fosters the development of a domestic battery industry, creating new job opportunities and boosting economic growth.

Challenges and Opportunities: The Road Ahead

Despite the remarkable progress achieved, the ICeNGESS project faces certain challenges. One key hurdle is securing a reliable supply of lithium, a core element in lithium-ion batteries. India currently lacks significant lithium reserves and dependence on foreign imports can pose challenges. However, ongoing research into alternative battery technologies like sodium-ion batteries offers promising solutions.

Another challenge lies in developing a skilled workforce capable of handling the complexities of large-scale lithium-ion battery production. Investment in training programmes and skill development initiatives is crucial to bridge this gap.

Collaboration on a Global Stage

While ICeNGESS prioritises indigenous development, international collaboration remains essential. Partnering with research institutions and battery technology leaders from other countries can provide access to cutting-edge knowledge and expertise. Additionally, participation in international programmes focused on battery research and development can accelerate India's technological advancements and position it as a global leader in energy storage solutions.

Public Outreach: Building a Sustainable Future

The long-term success of ICeNGESS and India's lithium-ion battery ambitions hinges on public awareness and support. Engaging the public through educational campaigns and interactive workshops can foster a deeper understanding of the importance of energy storage solutions and the environmental benefits of sustainable technologies. Encouraging public participation in battery recycling programmes can further contribute to a circular economy for batteries.

The ICeNGESS project is more than just a battery production facility; it is a symbol of India's growing scientific and technological prowess. By fostering innovation, empowering domestic industries and promoting sustainable practices, ICeNGESS is paving the way for a brighter electric future for India. The project's success serves as an inspiration for other developing nations aiming to achieve self-reliance in the domain of clean energy solutions. As the world collectively strives towards a sustainable future, India's journey with ICeNGESS positions it as a key player in shaping a cleaner and more energy-secure tomorrow.

Making Teaching a Career of Choice ...

Q: Each year on September 5, the Government of India announces the National Teachers Awards. What are the criteria for a teacher to qualify for this prestigious recognition?

A: Teachers' Day is a significant occasion to honour educators and recognise their vital role in shaping the future. The Government of India's National Award for Teachers acknowledges outstanding educators for their exceptional contributions to education.

The eligibility criteria for the National Teachers Awards include:

- School teachers and Heads of Schools working in recognised primary, middle, high or higher secondary schools under the following categories:
 - Schools run by State Governments/UT Administrations, schools managed by local bodies, schools aided by State Governments and UT Administrations and private schools affiliated with State/UT Boards.
 - Central Government Schools such as Kendriya Vidyalayas (KVs), Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalayas (JNVs), Sainik Schools run by the Ministry of Defence (MOD), schools managed by the Atomic Energy Education Society (AEES) and Eklavya Model Residential Schools (EMRS) under the Ministry of Tribal Affairs.
- Additional conditions:
- Retired teachers are generally ineligible for the award, but those who served at least part of the calendar year (minimum of four months, up to April 30th of the award year) may be considered if they meet all other criteria.
 - Educational administrators, inspectors of education and staff of training institutes are not eligible.
 - Teachers/Headmasters must not be involved in private tutoring.
 - Only regular teachers and Heads of Schools with a minimum of ten years of service are eligible.
 - Contractual teachers and Shiksha Mitras are not eligible for the awards.

Q: What initiatives are the Government of India implementing to upskill teachers in alignment with the NEP and how effective are these programmes?

A: In 2019, the Department of School Education and Literacy launched the National Initiative for School Heads' and Teachers' Holistic Advancement (NISHTHA) as part of the Samagra Shiksha scheme. This comprehensive teacher training programme is designed to improve learning outcomes at the elementary level. To facilitate ongoing learning, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic, NISHTHA was made available online via the DIKSHA platform in October 2020. The programme's reach was subsequently extended to include secondary teachers, primary teachers focused on foundational literacy and numeracy and master trainers in Early Childhood Care and Education (ECCE). Additionally, the Samagra Shiksha scheme provides funding to strengthen State Councils of Educational Research and Training (SCERTs) and District Institutes of Education and Training (DIETs). SCERTs have been designated as the lead agencies for teacher training across all levels, from early childhood to senior secondary and are tasked with developing and executing annual integrated teacher training calendars.

Q: What are your views on the imperative of training not only teachers but also students and their parents for a flourishing education system?

A: Under the centrally sponsored Samagra Shiksha scheme, the government provides funds to States and Union Territories to conduct teacher training, life skills development and career counseling programmes for students. Additionally, it supports activities that promote community participation and monitoring to ensure universal access, equity and quality in education.

Q: How will the New Education Policy impact the traditional roles of teachers, students and teaching?

A: The NEP 2020 is set to bring about a substantial shift in the traditional teacher-student relationship. Teachers will take on the role of facilitators, with greater flexibility and opportunities for ongoing professional development. Students will engage in more active, personalised learning with an emphasis on holistic growth. Teaching methods will incorporate technology and focus on multidisciplinary, project-based learning. Assessments will broaden to evaluate a wider range of skills. While these changes aim to modernise education, they will also honour and integrate cultural and traditional values, blending them with contemporary practices.

Q: Teachers are also sent abroad for training. How significant is the role of these teachers in the education system?

A: Teachers who receive training abroad are exposed to international best practices and innovative educational methodologies. The advanced pedagogical skills and techniques they acquire can result in more engaging and effective teaching methods. Additionally, their exposure to cutting-edge educational research and practices abroad can motivate them to implement research and experimentation in their own classrooms, fostering a culture of continuous improvement and innovation.

Q: Does the government periodically evaluate the effectiveness of these training programmes and their real-world impact?

A: Yes, the government regularly evaluates the effectiveness of teacher training programmes and their impact on the ground. The Department, in collaboration with States and Union Territories, conducts ongoing assessments and evaluations of these programmes. This includes gathering feedback from participants, monitoring the implementation process and measuring the impact on teaching practices. The National Initiative for School Heads and Teachers Holistic Advancement (NISHTHA) programme, for example, has an in-built mechanism for assessment. Additionally, national and state-level surveys, such as the National Achievement Survey (NAS) and State Assessment Surveys, often include components that evaluate the quality of teaching and the effectiveness of training programmes. The State Councils of Educational Research and Training (SCERTs) also conduct needs and impact assessments for teacher training programmes.

Q: Are both pre-service and in-service training necessary for teachers?

A: Yes, both pre-service and in-service training are essential to ensure that teachers are well-prepared and continuously improving in their profession. Under the Samagra Shiksha scheme, funds are allocated for induction training of newly recruited teachers as well as ongoing training for government school teachers.

Q: Do we gain insights from foreign institutions, universities or research conducted abroad?

A: Yes, there is much to be learned from foreign institutions, universities and research conducted internationally. This exchange of knowledge and practices enhances various aspects of the Indian education system and research landscape, including the adoption of best practices, innovations in educational technology and collaborative research.

Q: Is there ongoing research in India regarding teacher training? If so, how is it utilised?

A: Yes, research is being conducted on various aspects of teacher education, such as curriculum development, the effectiveness of professional development programmes, the integration of technology and teacher needs assessment. These research findings are often used to guide policy changes and improvements in teacher training programmes.

Q: What initiatives has the Government of India undertaken to make teaching a "career of choice" and attract the most talented individuals to the profession?

A: By 2030, the Integrated Teacher Education Programme (ITEP) will become the minimum qualification required for teachers. This dual-degree programme, available after Class 12, is designed to attract students early on to the teaching profession. The ITEP curriculum has been developed and a pilot programme is currently being implemented in select Higher Education Institutions (HEIs) across the country. To further enhance the teaching profession and ensure it remains highly qualified and up-to-date with current developments, the Government launched the National Professional Standards for Teachers (NPST) Guiding Document and the Blueprint on the National Mentoring Mission (NMM) on March 9, 2024. Additionally, numerous sensitisation workshops on NPST and NMM have been conducted and over 100,000 teachers have been trained. These efforts aim to instill pride and a greater sense of accomplishment in the teaching profession. Moreover, the government is upgrading all 613 functional District Institutes of Education and Training (DIETs) into Centres of Excellence. Financial assistance under the Samagra Shiksha scheme is being provided to States/UTs for the physical upgrade of these DIETs over the next five years, with a financial implication of Rs. 9,195 crores.

Q: To create a future-ready education system that is inclusive, equitable and globally competitive, tech-driven solutions, infrastructure upgrades and advancements in pedagogy are essential. How do you perceive the role of teachers' upskilling and reskilling in this framework?

A: In order to build a future-proof education system, it is crucial that teachers are able to adapt to technological advancements, diverse learning needs and evolving pedagogical approaches. Teachers must be at the forefront of these changes. Upskilling and reskilling teachers are key to fully leveraging tech-driven solutions and infrastructure upgrades. To support this, the government has initiated the strengthening and upgrading of State Councils of Educational Research and Training (SCERTs), State Institutes of Education and District Institutes of Education and Training (DIETs) as nodal agencies for teacher training under the Samagra Shiksha scheme. Additionally, school boards, including the CBSE, have entered into partnerships with leading tech companies to prepare students for the future of work, thereby equipping teachers with the tools to guide students in this journey.

Q: Has the Ministry of Education conducted a skill mapping of teachers to identify and address skill gaps?

A: The National Education Policy (NEP) emphasises the need for teachers to have ongoing opportunities for self-improvement and to stay updated with the latest advancements in their field. Continuous Professional Development (CPD) is recommended through various modes. The National Initiative for School Heads and Teachers Holistic Advancement (NISHTHA) provides a standardised, integrated and comprehensive training package aimed at improving the school ecosystem and enhancing learning outcomes. In-service teacher training covers areas such as art-integrated, sport-integrated, story-telling, experiential and toy-based pedagogies. To ensure the effectiveness of skill education, the PSSCIVE, a constituent of NCERT, periodically assesses skill gaps among skill teachers. These assessments help in developing targeted interventions and professional development programmes aimed at bridging identified skill gaps.

Q: Can you elaborate on the strategic planning, funding and policy initiatives being developed to address the challenges of reskilling and upskilling educators, especially in the context of AI and human intelligence collaboration?

A: Our world is rapidly evolving with the advent of Artificial Intelligence (AI), machine learning, big data and other enabling technologies. To keep pace with these changes, teachers need continuous skilling and reskilling. The Department of Education provides both financial and technical support to States and Union Territories for several initiatives:

- Strengthening physical infrastructure in Teacher Education Institutions (TEIs) and establishing new District Institutes of Education and Training (DIETs) to provide high-quality teacher education that aligns with National Professional Standards for Teachers (NPST).
- Expanding and strengthening DIKSHA, a technology-based educational platform, to serve as the national repository of high-quality resources and e-content for teaching, learning and capacity building of teachers and teacher educators.
- Providing in-service training for teachers, headteachers and teacher educators to support their professional growth and self-development.
- Supporting SCERTs in leading a "change management process" aimed at reinvigorating and building the capacity of DIETs, Block Resource Centres (BRCs) and Cluster Resource Centres (CRCs), transforming them into vibrant institutions of excellence within three years.
- Enhancing the technology support to TEIs to empower them in delivering quality teacher education, conducting research and developing state curriculum frameworks for school education, teacher education, Early Childhood Care and Education (ECCE) and adult education.
- Offering continuous academic support to headteachers, teachers and schools through BRCs, Urban Resource Centres (URCs) and CRCs.
- Building the capacity of SCERTs to implement pre-vocational education, the "10 bagless days" initiative (internships in vocational education), ECCE, the NIPUN Bharat Mission on foundational literacy and numeracy, adult education and other programmes at the grassroots level.

Q: How much has the education system changed from the days of untrained teachers to today's trained educators?

A: The education system has undergone a significant transformation from the era of untrained teachers to the present, where teachers are highly trained and qualified. The National Council for Teacher Education (NCTE) has established minimum qualifications for teaching positions in classes I to VIII, ensuring that teachers can effectively implement curriculum frameworks with care and understanding. Unlike the past, where training was minimal, the National require similar skills to those in traditional finance, such as numerical, analytical and communication abilities, the focus on technology adds a unique dimension to these positions.

For example, a day in the life of a fintech analyst may involve researching quantitative models, interpreting market trends, collaborating with wealth managers and coding specialists, beta testing algorithms and providing real-time recommendations to stakeholders.

Fintech Career Hierarchy and Progression

Fintech encompasses a variety of fields, each with its own career hierarchy. However, a typical fintech career progression might look like this:

- Entry-Level Associate
- Data Analyst
- Senior Analyst / Manager
- Senior Manager / Director
- Chief Financial Officer (CFO) or Similar Supervisory Role

The exact path will depend on individual skill sets and the specific industry. Some potential roles include:

- Web App Developer: Focuses on developing technologies like e-wallets and mobile applications.
- Blockchain Developer: Specialises in blockchain technology, in high demand due to the rise of cryptocurrencies.
- Analyst: Predicts industry trends, develops business models and assesses IT frameworks.
- Compliance Officer: Ensures adherence to governmental regulations and legal requirements.
- Quantitative Analyst: Focuses on risk mitigation and developing pricing strategies.
- Data Scientist: Analyses data for fraud detection, client acquisition and financial planning.

Most of these roles in fintech offer competitive salaries, often enhanced by additional compensation schemes like stock options and commissions.

How to Start a Career in Fintech?

Starting a career in fintech can be exciting, especially for those interested in the latest technological advancements. Many fintech firms offer graduate entry programmes and internships, providing a pathway for recent graduates. Networking is crucial in this digital-centric industry and establishing strong contacts can give candidates a competitive edge.

Professionals from related industries like banking, investing and insurance can also transition into fintech by leveraging their existing experience and skills.

Qualifications and Skill Sets

Academic qualifications for careers in the fintech sector require a blend of traditional finance, technology and emerging disciplines. Here's a brief overview of the academic background typically required for various roles:

- Financial Analyst: This role requires strong analytical skills, knowledge of financial markets and proficiency in financial modeling software. Therefore a degree in Finance, Economics or Accounting is essential. Additional qualifications like CFA (Chartered Financial Analyst) or MBA with a focus on Finance are highly regarded.
- Data Scientist: This role demands expertise in statistical analysis, machine learning and programming languages like Python and R. A degree in Data Science, Computer Science, Statistics, or Applied Mathematics is essential, with advanced degrees (Master's or PhD) often preferred.
- Blockchain Developer: This role requires proficiency in blockchain platforms like Ethereum and Hyperledger, smart contracts and programming languages such as Solidity, Java and C++. A degree in Computer Science, Software Engineering or Information Technology is essential, with specialised courses or certifications in blockchain technology being beneficial.

- Cybersecurity Specialist: This role demands a strong understanding of encryption, network security and ethical hacking techniques. A degree in Cybersecurity, Information Technology or Computer Science is essential, with certifications like CISSP (Certified Information Systems Security Professional) or CEH (Certified Ethical Hacker) being advantageous.
- Product Manager: This role requires strong project management skills, a solid understanding of UX/UI and knowledge of both financial and technical aspects of fintech products. A degree in Business Administration, Marketing or related fields is essential, with an MBA specialising in Product Management or Technology Management often being sought after.
- UX/UI Designer: This role requires proficiency in design tools such as Adobe XD, Sketch and Figma, along with an understanding of user psychology and experience with prototyping and wireframing. A degree in Design, Human-Computer Interaction or Computer Science is essential, with additional courses in UX/UI design being common.
- Compliance Officer: This role demands a strong knowledge of regulatory frameworks, risk management and attention to detail. A degree in Law, Finance or Business Administration is essential, with additional certifications in financial regulations or compliance being beneficial.
- Quantitative Analyst (Quant): This role requires strong mathematical and statistical skills, proficiency in programming languages like Python and C++ and knowledge of algorithmic trading. A degree in Mathematics, Physics, Engineering or Computer Science is essential, with advanced degrees (Master's or PhD) in Quantitative Finance or Financial Engineering being common.
- Fintech Consultant: This role requires a strong understanding of financial markets, fintech innovations and strategic planning. A degree in Finance, Business Administration or Economics is essential, with an MBA focused on Finance or Technology often being preferred.
- Business Analyst: This role demands strong analytical thinking, problem-solving skills and knowledge of business process management tools. A degree in Business Administration, Finance or Economics is essential, with certifications in Business Analysis (e.g., CBAP) being beneficial.

These roles in the fintech sector typically require a combination of domain-specific education, technical skills and practical experience. Continuous learning and staying updated with industry trends are also crucial for career advancement in fintech.

TOP CERTIFICATIONS

Finance-specific certifications can provide a competitive edge, equipping professionals with specialised knowledge and skills that are highly sought after in the industry. Below are some of the most valuable certifications for those looking to excel in fintech, along with the best institutions in India to pursue these courses:

Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) Certification: The CFA certification is renowned globally for its rigorous curriculum, covering areas such as AI, Machine Learning, Blockchain, Data Science and Fundamental Finance skills. This makes it particularly valuable for fintech professionals seeking roles in financial analysis, portfolio management and technology-driven finance solutions. While CFA Institute's Global CFA Programme is offered through various authorised test centers across India, Indian School of Business (ISB), Hyderabad and Mohali offer preparatory programmes for the CFA exam. Narsee Monjee Institute of Management Studies (NMIMS), Mumbai also provides coaching and preparatory courses for CFA aspirants.

Financial Risk Management (FRM) Certification: The FRM certification is ideal for those aiming to specialise in risk management, data management and operational security within fintech. It equips professionals with the expertise needed to assess and manage risks associated with financial products, services and systems, which is crucial in the fintech industry. Global Association of Risk Professionals (GARP) authorised centers have been established in multiple cities across India for the FRM exam. National Institute of Securities Markets (NISM), Mumbai, offers preparatory courses for the FRM certification. Indian Institute of Quantitative Finance (IIQF), Mumbai, provides specialised coaching for FRM candidates. Pursuing these certifications from prestigious institutions not only enhances career prospects in fintech but also positions professionals to take on leadership roles in the industry. These programmes are designed to meet the demands of the rapidly changing financial landscape, ensuring that graduates are well-prepared to innovate and excel in their chosen career paths.

Fintech Exit Options & Opportunities

Fintech professionals hold a distinct advantage when it comes to navigating their career paths, thanks to the versatile skill sets they develop within the industry. The blend of financial acumen and technological expertise that defines fintech roles creates a broad spectrum of exit options, each capable of shaping a professional's career in significant ways.

Transitioning to Traditional Finance

Roles: Fintech professionals can seamlessly move into traditional finance roles such as banking, wealth management and investment. Their exposure to cutting-edge technology and innovative financial solutions makes them valuable assets in these fields, where they can drive digital transformation, improve operational efficiency and enhance customer experiences. These roles benefit from the professional's ability to apply fintech innovations to traditional financial practices, ensuring they remain competitive in a digital age.

Venturing into High-Growth Sectors:

The skills developed in fintech, particularly in areas like data analytics, algorithm development and digital innovation, are highly transferable to other high-growth sectors, including Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Machine Learning (ML). These sectors are experiencing rapid expansion and the ability to leverage large datasets and develop smart, predictive models is critical. Fintech professionals, with their deep understanding of financial data and technology, are well-equipped to contribute to AI and ML projects, particularly those focused on financial applications like fraud detection, personalised finance management and automated trading systems.

Entrepreneurial Opportunities: The entrepreneurial landscape in fintech is vibrant, offering professionals the opportunity to leverage their industry knowledge and networks to start their own ventures. Whether it's creating disruptive financial products, such as new payment solutions or blockchain-based services or developing cutting-edge technology platforms that address unmet needs in the market, the potential for innovation is vast. Fintech entrepreneurs can capitalise on trends such as the rise of decentralised finance (DeFi), digital currencies and regulatory technology (RegTech) to build businesses that are not only profitable but also pivotal in shaping the future of finance.

Leadership Roles in Tech-Driven

Companies: The adaptability and technological proficiency gained in fintech also make professionals attractive candidates for leadership positions in tech-driven companies. Their unique perspective on integrating finance and technology allows them to lead teams in developing innovative products and services. These roles may involve driving digital strategy, overseeing product development or managing tech-centric financial services within larger organisations.

Consulting and Regulatory Positions: With fintech's rapid growth, there's an increasing demand for consultants who understand the complexities of both finance and technology. Fintech professionals can transit into consulting roles where they advise businesses on digital transformation, financial technology adoption and regulatory compliance. Additionally, the evolving nature of fintech has led to the emergence of new regulatory challenges, creating opportunities for professionals to work with government agencies and regulatory bodies. Their deep industry insight positions them to shape policies and frameworks that govern the digital finance space, ensuring that innovation thrives while maintaining consumer protection and financial stability.

Academic and Research

Opportunities: As fintech continues to evolve, there's a growing need for academic research and education in the field. Experienced professionals can pursue opportunities in academia, contributing to the development of new theories, models and technologies that will define the future of finance. They can also play a crucial role in educating the next generation of fintech professionals, sharing their knowledge and experiences through teaching positions, guest lectures or by authoring academic publications.

Global Opportunities:

The global nature of fintech means that professionals have the option to explore international opportunities. Markets in regions like South-East Asia, Africa and Latin America are experiencing significant fintech growth and the demand for skilled professionals is high. This global perspective allows fintech professionals to not only advance their careers but also to be at the forefront of financial inclusion and innovation in emerging markets.

The exit options and opportunities for fintech professionals are vast and varied, offering pathways into traditional finance, high-growth tech sectors, entrepreneurship, leadership, consulting, academia and beyond. The dynamic nature of fintech, combined with its integration into virtually every aspect of modern finance and technology, ensures that those with the right skills and experience are well-positioned to shape the future of the industry and to lead in a multitude of impactful roles.

Is Fintech the Right Career Choice for You?

A career in fintech offers long-term job security, high earning potential and the chance to work with cutting-edge technologies. However, it requires commitment, motivation and the ability to navigate a highly competitive landscape. For those passionate about finance and technology, fintech can be a rewarding and dynamic career path with numerous opportunities for growth and impact.

The medical examination of the candidates will be conducted in terms of Uniform Guidelines for recruitment Medical Examination for GOs and NGOs in CAPFs and ARs issued vide MHA UO No.A.VI-1/2014-Rectt(SSB) dated 20.05.2015 and MHA OM No.E.32012/ADG(Med)/DME&RME/DA-1/2020(Part File)/11166 dated 31.05.2021 and as amended from time to time by the Government.

Tattoo: Following criteria has been fixed to determine permissibility of Tattoo:

(a) Content: Being a secular country, the religious sentiments of our countrymen are to be respected and thus tattoos depicting religious symbol or figures and the name, as followed in Indian Army, are to be permitted.

(b) Location: Tattoos marked on traditional sites of the body like inner aspect of forearm, but only left forearm, being non-saluting limb or dorsum of the hands are to be allowed.

(c) Size: Must be less than ¼ of the particular part (Elbow or Hand) of the body.

14. Mode of selection :

14.1 The recruitment process will consist of Physical Efficiency Test (PET), Physical Standard Test (PST), Document Verification (DV), Written Examination under OMR/Computer Based Test (CBT) Mode and Medical Examination (DME/RME).

14.2 The minimum percentage of marks for qualification in Written Examination (OMR/CBT) for next stage will be as under :

UR/EWS/ESM : 35%
SC/ST/OBC : 33%

Note-I: The qualifying marks means that person scoring less than the qualifying marks will not be called for next stage even if vacancy remains unfilled. The candidates will be called for next stage on the basis of their performance in the Written Examination (OMR/CBT) and cut off marks of each State/Category according to allotted vacancy.

Note-II: If Written Examination (OMR/CBT) is conducted in two or more shifts than marks scored by the candidates shall be normalized and such normalized scores will be used to determine final merit and cut off marks.

14.3 Merit List:- After completion of PET/PST/DV, Written Examination (OMR/CBT) and Medical Examination, State and Category wise merit lists namely Un-reserved (UR), SC, ST, OBC, EWS and ESM will be drawn separately in respect of each State/UTs based on the performance of candidates in the Written Examination (OMR/CBT) and number of vacancies allotted to the State/UT.

14.3.1 Resolution of Tie cases : In the event of tie in scores of candidates in the Written Examination (OMR/CBT), such cases will be resolved by applying following criteria, one after another in the given order, till the tie is resolved :

- Candidate older in age will get preference ;
- Further tie, if any, shall be resolved by comparing the height of candidate i.e. candidate taller in height will get the preference ;
- If the matter still remains unresolved, then it shall be resolved by the educational qualification of candidates i.e. candidate higher in the qualification will get preference and ;
- If the tie still persists, it shall be resolved by referring to the alphabetical order of names i.e. a candidate whose name begins with the alphabet (English) which comes first in the alphabetical order will get preference.

14.3.2 Candidates will be considered for the vacancies of a State/UT and further for the vacancies of Naxal Affected Districts based on the information provided by them in the online Application Form and subsequent submission of relevant Domicile Certificate at the time of Document Verification. Candidates should be very careful and must exercise due diligence while providing information about Domicile State and District in the online Application Form. No request for change of Domicile State and District will be entertained after submission of application form under any circumstances. If there is any variation of District and/ or State mentioned by the candidate in the online Application Form and the Domicile Certificate submitted by him at the time of Document Verification, his candidature will be cancelled forthwith and he will not be allowed to participate in recruitment process.

14.3.3 SC, ST, OBC and EWS candidates, who are selected on their own merit without relaxed standards along with candidates belonging to other communities, will not be adjusted against the reserved share of vacancies as per their position in the overall Merit List. The reserved vacancies will be filled up separately from amongst the eligible SC, ST, OBC & EWS candidates.

14.3.4 SC, ST, OBC and EWS candidate who qualifies on the basis of relaxed standards viz. age limit, height and chest measurement, marks in Written Examination (OMR/CBT) larger than what is provided for unreserved category candidates etc., irrespective of his merit position, such SC, ST, OBC and EWS candidates are to be counted against reserved vacancies. In so far as cases of ex-serviceman are concerned, deduction of the military service rendered from the age of ex-servicemen is permissible against the reserved or unreserved posts and such exemption will not be termed as relaxed standards with regard to age.

14.3.5 Final result will be published on CISF Recruitment website i.e. <https://cisfrectt.cisf.gov.in>

Note-I: The candidates applying for the examination should ensure that they fulfil all the eligibility conditions for admission to the examination. Their admission at all the stages of examination will be purely provisional, subject to their satisfying the prescribed eligibility conditions. If, on verification, at any time before, during or after the PET/PST/DV, Written Examination (OMR/CBT) and Medical Examination, it is found that they do not fulfil any of the eligibility conditions; their candidature for the examination will be cancelled forthwith by the department.

Note-II: In case, any candidate is found ineligible or found to be suppressing facts whatsoever at any time during or after recruitment process, his candidature/ selection/appointment shall be cancelled forthwith.

14.3.6 Medical Examination:- The candidates who qualify in the PET/PST/DV and written examination (OMR/CBT) will be shortlisted State/Area-wise and Category-wise on the basis of their performance in the Written Examination (OMR/CBT) for appearing in the Detailed Medical Examination (DME). The number of candidates shortlisted for DME will be about 02 (Two) times of the number of vacancies notified. The selected candidates will be medically examined by the Medical Boards to assess their physical and medical fitness. The medical examination of the candidates will be conducted in terms of Uniform Guidelines for recruitment Medical Examination for GOs and NGOs in CAPFs and ARs issued vide MHA UO No.A.VI-1/2014-Rectt(SSB) dated 20.05.2015 and MHA OM No. E.32012/ADG(Med)/DME&RME/DA-1/2020(Part File)/11166 dated 31.05.2021 and as amended from time to time by the Government.

15. Decision : The decision of the board/ department in all matters relating to eligibility, acceptance or rejection of the applications, mode of selection (PET/ PST/DV, Written Examination (OMR/CBT) & Medical Examination), preparation of merit list will be final and binding on the candidates and no enquiry/ correspondence will be entertained in this regard.

16. Important instructions to candidates :

16.1 Before applying, candidates must carefully go through the instructions given in the notice of examination.

16.2 Candidates are advised in their own interest to submit online applications much before the closing date and not to wait till the last date to avoid the possibility of disconnection/ inability or failure to login to the website on account of heavy load on the website during the days preceding the closing date.

16.3 Verification of documents with originals testimonials will be carried out at the time of PET/PST. Therefore, candidature will be accepted provisionally only. Before applying, candidates should go through the requirements of educational qualification, age, physical standards etc. and satisfy themselves that they are eligible for the post. During scrutiny of document, if any claim made in the application is not found substantiated, the candidature will be cancelled.

16.4 Candidates seeking reservation benefits such as SC/ST/OBC/EWS/ESM or any other relaxation as per the provisions of this Notice of Examination must ensure that they are entitled for such reservation/ relaxation. They should be in possession of the relevant certificates in original in the prescribed format in support of their claim when the copies of the certificates are sought.

16.5 A candidate belonging to a caste of SC, ST or OBC category, on migration from one State to another State will have to make an informed choice whether to get the benefit of reservation in the State of origin or to appear as unreserved candidate from the State of migration. Such choice will have to be exercised by the candidate in the online Application Form. No request for change of such option, after the submission of Application Form, will be entertained. In case, candidate opt to avail the benefit of reservation from the State of origin, he will have to submit information about the District and State of current domicile as well as the District and State of his origin in the Application Form. His candidature in such cases will be considered from the State of origin.

Making Teaching a Career of Choice ...

Education Policy (2020) mandates continuous professional development for teachers. Modern teaching now emphasises student-centered learning, critical thinking and personalised instruction, moving away from the rote memorisation and uniform lessons that were common before. Additionally, assessments have shifted to competency-based methods, focusing on student improvement rather than mere recall of information. The role of teachers has evolved from being authoritative figures to facilitators of learning, supporting both academic and emotional development. This change reflects a more professional, dynamic and student-focused approach to education.

Q: What initiatives is the central government currently undertaking to promote digital education by leveraging technology?

A: The National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, particularly in

Para 24.4 (e), recognises the need to address the digital divide, especially since a significant portion of the population has limited digital access. To bridge this gap, the government is extensively using mass media such as television, radio and community radio for educational broadcasts. A key initiative in this regard is the PM e-VIDYA programme, which unifies all efforts related to digital, online and on-air education, providing multi-mode access to nearly 25 crore school children across the country.

Key components of this initiative include:

- DIKSHA: A national digital infrastructure offering quality e-content for school education across States/UTs, including QR-coded Energised Textbooks for all grades (one nation, one digital platform).
- DTH TV Channels: Following the Union Budget announcement for FY 2022-23, the existing 12 DTH Channels have been expanded to 200 PM e-VIDYA DTH TV Channels. These channels provide supplementary education in various Indian languages for classes 1-12 and are operational across all States/UTs.

- Radio and Community Radio: Extensive use of radio and community radio, along with the CBSE Podcast "Shiksha Vani," for educational content.
- Special e-Content: Development of e-content for visually and hearing impaired students, available through the Digitally Accessible Information System (DAISY) and in sign language on the NIOS website and YouTube.
- Virtual Labs: A vertical on Virtual Labs has been created on the DIKSHA platform, with 280 Virtual Labs for Science and Mathematics subjects for classes 6th to 12th. Training on these Virtual Labs is provided to teachers and teacher educators via PM e-VIDYA DTH TV channels.

Furthermore, the ICT and Digital initiatives under the centrally sponsored Samagra Shiksha scheme cover Government and Government-aided schools with classes VI to XII. This initiative provides financial assistance to States and UTs for establishing ICT Labs and Smart Classrooms in schools, ensuring the integration of technology in education.

PM Modi Visits Poland and Ukraine, Cementing Strategic Ties; Advocating for Global Peace

Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi visited Poland on 22nd August, marking a pivotal moment in bilateral relations between the two countries. The Indian PM held significant discussions with Poland's President Mr. Andrzej Duda and Prime Minister Mr. Donald Tusk in Warsaw. The talks, held against the backdrop of the 70th anniversary of diplomatic ties between the two nations, aimed at elevating the relationship to a "Strategic Partnership." The two sides agreed to strengthen cooperation in key areas, including trade, defence, science and technology and cultural exchanges. The two sides also agreed to leverage Poland's technological capabilities and the potential for joint ventures in defence production, particularly in Artificial Intelligence, where India is a global leader. PM Modi also addressed the ongoing conflicts in Ukraine and West Asia, reiterating India's stance on the importance of dialogue and diplomacy for the early restoration of peace. He expressed India's willingness to support global efforts to resolve these conflicts. Mr. Tusk echoed these sentiments, acknowledging India's potential to play a crucial role in mediating peace, particularly in the Russia-Ukraine conflict. After concluding his visit to Poland, PM Shri Narendra Modi travelled to Ukraine on 23rd August where he met with Ukrainian President Mr. Volodymyr Zelenskyy. Following the meeting, several agreements were signed and exchanged between India and Ukraine. The agreements include a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) on the regulation of medical products, reflecting the commitment to enhancing healthcare collaboration. Other key agreements involve cooperation in the agriculture and food industry, an MoU for Indian Humanitarian Grant Assistance aimed at high-impact community development projects and a cultural cooperation pact between the two nations' Ministries of Culture for the years 2024-28.

India & Malaysia Elevate Ties to Comprehensive Strategic Partnership

India and Malaysia have signed agreements in the fields of labour and employment, Ayurveda and traditional medicines, digital technologies, culture, tourism and cooperation in youth and sports. The two countries also inked agreements in the area of public administration, governance reforms, and mutual cooperation.

The agreements were signed after delegation-level talks held between Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi and his Malaysian counterpart, Mr. Dato' Seri Anwar bin Ibrahim, in New Delhi on 20th August 2024. Later, in his press statement, Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi said that India and Malaysia have decided to elevate their Enhanced Strategic Partnership to a Comprehensive Strategic Partnership. The two sides have also discussed new possibilities of mutual cooperation in the defence sector and new technology areas such as fintech, semiconductors, Artificial Intelligence and Quantum Technology. Both sides have also decided to work on linking India's UPI with Malaysia's PayNet and to settle bilateral trade payments in Indian Rupee (INR) and Malaysian Ringgits (MYR).

India, US Sign Security of Supply Arrangement to Ensure Defence Supply Chain Resilience

India and the United States have entered into a bilateral, non-binding Security of Supply Arrangement (SOSA) that will enable both countries to acquire the industrial resources they need from one another to resolve unanticipated supply chain disruptions to meet national security needs. The deal was signed on 22nd August by Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defence for Industrial Base Policy Mr. Vic Ramdass, on behalf of the US Department of Defence and Additional Secretary and Director General (Acquisitions) Mr. Samir Kumar, on behalf of India's Ministry of Defence. Through the SOSA, the US and India agree to provide reciprocal priority support for goods and services that promote national defence, the US Department of Defence said in a statement.

Union Cabinet Approves Major Metro Rail Projects for Bengaluru, Thane and Pune

The Union Cabinet has approved three significant metro rail projects in Bengaluru, Thane and Pune, aimed at enhancing urban connectivity and reducing traffic congestion. The Bengaluru Metro Phase-3, with an estimated cost of Rs. 15,611 crore, will add 44.65 kilometers of new metro lines, extending the city's network to over 220 kilometers by 2029. In Thane, the 29-kilometer Integral Ring Metro project, costing Rs. 12,200 crore, will connect key areas with 22 stations by 2029. Pune's Metro Phase-1 extension from Swargate to Katraj, costing around Rs. 3,000 crore, will improve connectivity and ease road traffic. Additionally, the Cabinet approved new Civil Enclaves at Bihta in Bihar and Bagdogra in West Bengal, enhancing airport capacities and passenger experiences.

Seaplane Operation Guidelines to Boost Connectivity under RCS-UDAN

Union Minister of Civil Aviation Shri Ram Mohan Naidu has launched the guidelines for seaplane operation under RCS-UDAN. The guidelines aim to connect remote areas of the country and make travel more accessible for all, while prioritising the safety and security of operations.

The guidelines clearly outline the responsibilities of each stakeholder, from the operators to the regulatory bodies. The integration of seaplanes into the existing aviation system will provide last-mile connectivity to the regions that have remained isolated due to geographical challenges. It will also open up new avenues for economic growth, particularly in the tourism sector. Shri Naidu said that the country is uniquely positioned to leverage the potential of seaplane operations and the government is committed to unlocking the potential and transforming coastlines, rivers, lakes and islands for connectivity, avenues of economic opportunity and pathways to inclusive development.

India Sends Record 84 Athletes to Paris Paralympics

India has sent its largest-ever contingent of 84 athletes to the Paris Paralympic Games. Among the athletes, 47 are making their debut at the Paralympic Games. At the send-off ceremony, Union Sports Minister Dr. Mansukh Mandaviya highlighted that 50 members of the team have benefited from the Target Olympic Podium Scheme (TOPS), receiving extensive support in training and coaching. Many athletes have also emerged from the Khelo India Games. Reflecting on past success, Dr. Mandaviya noted that Indian athletes won 19 medals at the Tokyo Paralympics with a team of 54. The current squad is hopeful of building on this achievement and bringing more medals to India.
