"Engineering is my passion and technology is my first love" this is something what I had prepared for my interviews at campus placements. At RIT I learned not only my technical abilities but also to deal with situations where you need to be a decision maker of your personal and professional life's milestones.

Established ITFigs in 2013 with the hope and spirit to provide IT services which are aligned with customers' needs. To work for customer satisfaction is key for success of any business. There is no magic stick which makes you grow! It's all about your hard work and your destiny that god gives you & no one else has any right to snatch it from you..!!!

I had been working with KPIT which provided me an opportunity to contribute in competitive environment and advanced technologies such as Metro Style Apps Development, Windows Mobile Development, Web Services and Web Portals Development for our precious clients in Singapore, Malaysia, Denmark and Sweden etc.

At ITFigs our certified professionals and Microsoft BizSpark alliances enable us to get priority access to new or beta product versions even before they are launched.

Events Organized

Mechanical Engineering

Conducted two days workshop on “Photo elastic Coating Techniques for Stress Analysis” under lead college scheme of Shivaji University, Kolhapur from 7th and 8th March, 2014. Engineers build components. They build them out of the materials. The materials have to support loads. This induces stresses and strains in the materials. Components made up of materials have to survive in often-hostile surroundings, and to do all this without damage /breakage. The stresses and strains have to be within allowable limits. This gives rise to the importance of stress and strain measurement in components.

One of the techniques in experimental stress analysis is Photo elasticity. Photo elastic materials respond to stresses with particular changes in their color, exhibiting color fringes. For that reason they are often also called birefringent materials. The measurement of overall stresses/strains in the component at full field scale is accomplished by Reflection polariscope. This gives picture of surface stresses/strains which can be seen by human eye and also captured by a camera. The digital image so obtained can be processed by software and accurate values of principle stresses can be found.

The inaugural function of the programme was planned in presence of Dr. Mrs. S. S. Kulkarni, - Director, R.I.T. Rajaramnagar, Prof. Dr. S. S. Gawade, H. O. D. Mechanical Engineering, Prof. S. A. Lokare, Dr. S. G. Joshi and Prof. N. K. Chhapkhane, coordinator of the workshop.

In all 51 participants got benefit from this workshop.
